RPA's statement on Klobuchar's ill-timed visit to Arkansas

Little Rock, AR- Today Democrat presidential candidate Amy Klobuchar came to Arkansas to woo potential Democrat donors and to discuss her plan to infringe upon the Second Amendment with a litany of gun control policies.

It makes little sense to us why Klobuchar's campaign staff would send her to Arkansas at this time. We are currently the most Republican state in the country and her message will not resonate well with Arkansans. Additionally, her polling cannot overcome low single digits. From a political standpoint, this move screams inexperience on behalf of her staff and is a clear sign that the Klobuchar campaign is doomed to fail if it has not already.
