Republican Party of Arkansas Honors Jonesboro Republican with First Congressional District Award

LITTLE ROCK, Ark – Vickie Strickland of Jonesboro is a popular face among Republican circles in Arkansas and a hard-working member of the Craighead County Republican Committee. She is considered to be the “loudest and proudest Republican around!”

She has previously served as the First and Second Vice Chair of the Craighead County Republican committee and is well known for facilitating many Arkansas Republican Party events such as the Reagan Day Roundup on she and her husband’s ranch in Jonesboro. In years past Mrs. Strickland volunteered to assist in the operation of the Craighead County Victory Center, where she helped lead sweeping Republican victories at both state and local levels.

On Friday evening, Mrs. Strickland’s dedication and generosity was recognized at the annual Reagan Rockefeller Dinner hosted by the Republican Party of Arkansas. She was the recipient of the Ann Bush Party Builder Award for the First Congressional District. The award was presented to her by First District Chairwoman Anita Wells, State Chairman Doyle Webb, and Governor Asa Hutchinson.

The award is named after State Representative Ann Bush of Blytheville, who served 6 years in the Arkansas House of Representatives and was an early force in the Republican movement of Arkansas.
